

Past and Present Collide

– The Lost Colony updates webpage with technological drama –

–
(Manteo, N.C., July 17, 2008) – Imagine The Lost Colony's beloved character Old Tom miniaturized and speaking to you from your own home. No imagination is needed; simply visit The Lost Colony's website to see it. In addition, Sir Walter and the Queen will make a virtual presence in the coming weeks. The web video segments were filmed at Eye Candy, a video production studio in Currituck, against a "green" screen—like weather forecasters use to project the weather. The video was converted to the web by The Lost Colony's webmaster, That Girl Productions. To see an example of this technology at work, visit www.thelostcolony.org/Other_Productions.htm.